

He responds to questions about flights and provides several humorous moments to those who need relief from the stresses of air travel. Of course, some slight artistic additions by your travel/4seniors.com

editor to the monster's appearance could give him broader powers, such as spouting long speeches, making world peace and building immigrant-proof border walls.