

Your wandering travel4seniors.com caught this sad face on camera, but the doggie is actually not for sale. He's grieving because he was left behind the glass window in a doggie daycare center. Of course, the traveling owner's trip will end and take him home again in a couple of days. Thus the reunion will be sure to turn the doggie face from downhearted to lighthearted.