

Of course, senior travelers go to Sin City for the glitter, shows and casinos. However, these days many hungry customers also happily pause in their play for a few hours a day to enjoy some traditional Chinese specialties. The tasty dishes rival those served in Beijing, Hong Kong and Singapore.

Consider a few of the most popular Las Vegas Chinese dining in hotels along the Strip: China Poblano, Cosmopolitan; Wicked Spoon, Cosmopolitan; Blossom, Aria; Beijing Noodle, Caesars Palace; Buffets of Buffets, Caesars Palace; A.Y.C.E. Buffet, Palms; The Buffet, Wynn; Chin Chin, New York New York.

Of course, not all of the best Chinese restaurants in Las Vegas are limited to the luxury hotels along the Strip. Next time you're in town, ask hotel people and cabbies where their favorite neighborhood zhōng cānguǎn is located.
