

Our feline family member always knows when your travel4seniors.com editor is preparing to go on a trip. Is that a resentful scowl on his face because he knows he isn't going along? Does it happen in your family, too?