

Next time you cruise, be sure to take home a menu from one of your on-board dining experiences. A century from now, your great grandchildren could get some major money for it. Of course, it would be more valuable if your cruise ship just happened to hit an iceberg.