

Singapore Airlines (SIA:SP) has discontinued its daily passenger flights between the Asian island city and Newark, NJ. It had been the world's longest non-stop commercial flight. The 19-hour, 9,500-mile journey was a great convenience for those who could afford the ticket prices that started at $11,000. For more information, go to www.singaporeair.com