

The airline now hopes to make passenger boarding easier and quicker, especially for seniors and families with kids. For about 45 minutes before all passengers get on the outgoing flight, Delta employees will take carry-on bags aboard and place them in the overhead bins.

According to Delta, the free service will speed up the entire loading process, as well as make it less stressful for those passengers who need the most help.