

Many celebrations are scheduled through August to celebrate a century of spectacular thrills and lava spills on the big island of Hawaii and its famous Kilauea and Mauna Loa Volcanoes.

Some events include the opening of a new museum, 36th Annual Cultural Festival & BioBlitz, art exhibits, native music and dance performances, volcano sightseeing tours, local foods and many more reasons to visit and participate. For more info, go to www.nps.gov/havo/getinvolved/100th-anniversary
