

Central Park in New York now offers online tours. Because of the coronavirus problems, the US National Park Service has closed some locations around the country, but keeping several open with no entrance fees.

It's also offering 32 virtual tours, including the Grand Canyon, Yellowstone and Maine's Acadia National Park. Check online for info, including open hours, restrictions and fees.