

Your travel4seniors.com editor photo'd this sign on a recent Welsh venture. If you think the town name above the railroad station shop has a lot of letters, consider nearby Llanfairpwllgwyngyllgogerychwyrndrobwlllantysiliogogogoch, also in Wales. The Guinness Book of World Records lists that one as the longest place name in the world, and we can't argue. Not that they're the only strange name places in Wales. Consider Bully Hole Bottom, Penisarwaen, Tarts Hill, Three Cocks and Lord Hereford's Knob.
