

Maybe in the future of automation it will be a reality, but not quite yet. Your travel4seniors.com editor's camera angle only makes it look like an empty front seat. Actually, the driver is leaning far back, and seems invisible as he takes tourists along the famous street.